

EDITORIAL

Dear readers,

Today entering a new year 2009 under the threat of terror and fear in india, we wish that all this goes away from the soil of the country as does disease when treated homeopathically with a correct remedy. We pray for the souls who laid their lives in the Mumbai terror attack, but are proud to see the way our soldiers fought the battle. This is a similar way we have to fight the wrong acquisitions which are laid by the other systems of medicines and authorities who have little knowledge about homeopathy. But remember that our soldiers were able to fight this strong group of terrorists only because they were very well trained and well equipped. Similarly we have to be well equipped with our knowledge of basics of homeopathy which can come only by through reading and persistent hard work to learn the science and try and learn more and more about its principles, application and dynamic nature.

This January issue as promised comes with a new section "BY THE STUDENTS" with an article by Bulbul Sharma. We congratulate her for the selection of her article for this section and would ask more students to join in. This is an exclusive platform just for the students. We thank Dr. Harsh Nigam for taking out his precious time for answering the queries of the HB team. His guidance is such which is most simple and practically applicable and I would suggest all the students to imbibe these suggestions to achieve your best. We also have Dr. Priyanka joining as In-house Editor with next issue onwards working from January 2009. We welcome her in the team, she will be contacting all of you by mail and orkut. Be in touch and let this platform which is solely for the students take the shape it needs as per your needs.

We thank all the contributors who have contributed in all the previous years and this issue as we have some new authors and welcome all those who would like to help the student community of Indian Homeopathy through this platform of Homeobuzz.

Messages from The Readers—

The magazine is going great the articles are interesting. The only suggestion that I would like to make is that add some articles on medical aspect of homoeopathy. The layout and pics are superb and the cover pics are well done too.

I would like to first appreciate the outlook, matter, presentation and quality of articles as well as material.

The use of figures and graphics is very good and enflavours the taste of the stuff of the articles.

One page may be devoted to the series of directory of homeopaths and another to latest news and events. In general, HomeoBuzz is a wonderful magazine and will give an outstanding performance to Homeopathy

The magazine that is packed with essential Homeopathic information. My favourite is "must you know" which helps me to test myself and put my grey cells to work. An amazing magazine that balances both serious and fun matters together. Its my companion since 1st year till today and will be throughout.
